

DIGITAL MEDIA

INTERNSHIP REGISTRATION PACKET

Nicholson School of Communication and Media

Internships

Internships are often the beginning of successful careers for students. Most internships are taken for academic credit and the academic department provides guidance in the pursuit of internships, approves the internship, and supervises the intern.

Requirements

Digital Media students are eligible to receive credit for internships. Digital Media minors are not eligible. Internships must run from the first week of classes through the last day of exams. Exceptions on the time frames of internships can be made at the discretion of the supervising Digital Media faculty member. There are no exceptions on the hours required per credit.

You must register for internships through a Digital Media professor at least 48 hours prior to the last day of regular registration for the semester for which you want credit. You are required to pay for the internship credits just as you would for regular course credit. There are no course prerequisites or minimum GPA requirements for Digital Media internships. However, a Digital Media professor will determine if appropriate coursework has been completed.

The internship position must be related to Digital Media and approved by a Digital Media professor. All students who plan to enroll their internship for credit must enroll their internship with a Digital Media professor.

Finding an Internship

Internships can be found in several ways.

1. Find one on your own and can take place at any location. Bring a job description to a Digital Media professor along with a completed internship form for approval.
2. You may also find internships through UCF Experiential Learning office and Handshake. They often have Digital Media internships. If an internship is located through Experiential Learning, please complete the NSCM requirement to ensure the internship counts toward major requirements.
3. You may also check the NCSM student newsletter sent to your UCF email monthly for different opportunities.

Credit Hours

* Please check with your ASC to determine how a Digital Media internship will count toward major requirements. ****

Fall and spring internships begin the first day of classes in the term and conclude on the last day of classes for that term. Summer C internships are generally recommended in order to meet the minimum hours listed below, however with Digital Media faculty approval, a student may complete a Summer A or Summer B internship.

Credits Allowed: During Fall and Spring semesters, each credit hour will need three hours a week on the internship. Therefore, a three-credit hour internship will require nine hours a week on the internship for a minimum of 144 hours over the course of the semester. During Summer semesters, students will need to accumulate that same minimum 144 hour over the course of the shorter semester. Students will need to work with the supervising Digital Media faculty to determine if internship hours are satisfactory.

Grading procedure

All Digital Media Internships are graded as S/U—Satisfactory or Unsatisfactory—and not by letter grade. It does not affect your GPA, but it does count toward your 120 hours required for graduation.

Your Digital Media faculty supervisor will assign a grade of satisfactory or unsatisfactory based upon assessment from your internship employer. Your internship supervisor will assign an online UCF Digital Media internship course. It is the student's responsibility to complete all assignments from the Webcourse.

Unsatisfactory performance: If an internship is graded as a "U" or unsatisfactory, the student will be prohibited from further participation in the process until his or her case is reviewed by the Digital Media faculty.

The Internship Class: Depending on your Digital Media faculty supervisor, there might be a Webcourses component to internships.

Registering for an Internship

Digital Media internships must be registered using the contract available in this packet.

The student and employer must complete the registration packet before the student submits it to an approved Digital Media faculty member for approval. It is the student's responsibility to meet all paperwork deadlines, and the right of the Digital Media faculty supervisor to deny an internship where deadlines are not met. After faculty approval, the student must submit the signed packet to NSCM@ucf.edu for enrollment.

You cannot register yourself into the Digital Media course. You must follow the instructions in this packet to enroll your Digital Media internship for credit.
